When I write and want to talk about an author and the title of their book, how should I write the title? Should it be in quotes, underlined, italic or maybe something else? Please help. Comments for Proper Way to Write Book Titles. Click here to add your own comments. Jun 02, 2013. Answer by: Chelsey. When typing was done on typewriters, book titles were always underlined because we were not able to change the way the font looked. Shorter titles were sometimes put in quotation marks for the same reason. The title of your book is by far the most important book marketing decision you'll make. Here are some ideas on how to write a good title that sells. Tucker has sold over 5 million books as a 4x NYT Bestselling Author and is the co-founder of Scribe. Don’t Have Time Right Now? Download a PDF. Listen To The Podcast. Shockingly, there’s little useful guidance out there about book titling. What advice exists is usually of little help: Trite (â€œGo with your gut!â€​) Book name: author: price: Qty Sold. harry potter: james: 12.99: 197: 101. function Search_book {. FILE="/home/student/Downloads/BookDB.txt" echo found 1 records : $FILE contents cat FILE }. linux bash shell ubuntu. if i want to skip using book title and instead use author as a variable to find books how should i change the code? Thanks u so much u have been a great help =D â€” Wilson Turner Jul 27 ’13 at 11:42. No need to change the code. It's already looking at both title and author field.
