Forces for Change in Official Arab Policies on Media and Children

Growing PSM Organically: International Initiatives to Support National Conversations in New Contexts

Representing Childhood and Forced Migration: Narratives of Borders and Belonging in European Screen Content for Children

Screen Media for Arab and European Children: Policy and Production Encounters in the Multiplatform Era

Facilitating Arab-European Dialogue: Consolidated Report on an AHRC Project for Impact and Engagement

Project Report to Stakeholders: Invisible Children - Children's Media, Diversity and Forced Migration

Children's Screen Content in an Era of Forced Migration: Munich Workshop Briefing

Children's Screen Content in an Era of Forced Migration: Munich Workshop Briefing. London Kings College London.

Children's Screen Content in an Era of Forced Migration: Copenhagen Workshop Briefing

Children's Screen Content in an Era of Forced Migration: Copenhagen Workshop Briefing. London Kings College London.

Children's Screen Content in an Era of Forced Migration: Manchester Workshop Briefing

Children's Screen Content in an Era of Forced Migration: Manchester Workshop Briefing. London Kings College London.

'Smarter, stronger, kinder': Interests at stake in the remake of Iftah ya Simsim for Gulf children

Provision, protection or participation? Approaches to regulating children's television in Arab countries

Managing for sustainable journalism under authoritarianism: innovative business models aimed at good practice

Rebranding Al-Jazeera Children's Channel: The Qatarization Factor

Rebranding Al-Jazeera Children's Channel: The Qatarization Factor. in: Children's TV and Digital Media in the Arab World: Childhood, Screen Culture and Education London I.B. Tauris. pp. 99-121

Children's access to beneficial information in Arab states: Implementation of Article 17 of the Convention on the Rights of the Child in Egypt, Morocco and the United Arab Emirates

Survival or Sustainability? Contributions of Innovatively-Managed News Ventures to the Future of Egyptian Journalism

Media 'Globalization' as Survival Strategy for Authoritarian Regimes In the Arab Middle East

Good Practice in EU Public Service Media and Contemporary Practice in Jordan: A Comparative Analysis
Naguib Sawiris: global capitalist, Egyptian media investor

Co-producing content for pan-Arab children's TV: state, business, and the workplace

Les migrations arabes vers l'Europe méditerranéenne sous le prisme des télévisions panarabes

Transformations in Egyptian Journalism

Where Arab media magnates stand vis-à-vis globalized media flows: insights from Egypt and Saudi Arabia

‘We cannot let it loose’: geopolitics, security and reform in Jordanian broadcasting

Transformations in Egyptian journalism

Social media, television talk shows, and political change in Egypt

Public service initiatives in Arab media today

From satellite to screen: how Arab TV is shaped in space
Sakr, N. 2012. From satellite to screen: how Arab TV is shaped in space. in: Parks, L. and Schwoch, J. (ed.) Down to earth: satellite technologies, industries and cultures New Jersey Rutgers University Press. pp. 143-155

Placing political economy in relation to cultural studies: reflections on the case of cinema in Saudi Arabia

Enriching or impoverishing discourse on human rights? Talk about freedom of expression on Arab television

News, transparency and the effectiveness of reporting from inside Arab dictatorships

Le public et les ‘questions de société’ sur les chaînes arabes

Is the Arab TV viewer a king or a pawn? How Arab broadcasters deal with schedules and audience data

Fragmentation or consolidation? Factors in the Oprah-ization of social talk on multi-channel Arab TV

Gaps in the market: insights from scholarly work on Arab media economics

Egyptian TV in the grip of government: politics before profit in a fluid Pan-Arab market
Egyptian TV in the grip of government: politics before profit in a fluid Pan-Arab market

Oil, arms and media: how US interventionalism shapes Arab TV

Women and media in Saudi Arabia: rhetoric, reductionism and realities

Diversity and diaspora: Arab communities and satellite communication in Europe

Challenger or lackey?: The politics of news on Al-Jazeera

Arab television today

Approaches to exploring media-politics connections in the Arab world

Challenger or lackey? The politics of news on al-Jazeera

Foreign support for media freedom advocacy in the Arab Mediterranean: globalization from above or below?

Women, development and Al Jazeera: a balance sheet

Media policy in the Middle East: a reappraisal

Women and media in the Middle East: an introductory overview

Freedom of expression, accountability and development in the Arab region

Satellite realms: transnational television, globalization, and the Middle East
Previous issues of the Arab Social Media Report have explored the growth of social media in the region, and the change in the nature of social media usage, all of which has been partly fueled by the use of networks such as Facebook, YouTube, and Twitter in the movements of the so-called “Arab spring.” The fourth edition of the report builds on these timely themes, which specifically explored the exponential growth of social media use in the Arab world; the role of social networking tools in the civil movements in the Arab region; and the potential of social media to empower Arab women. It goes... media and, specifically, perceptions about its impact on culture and society in the region. The target demographic for the survey mirrored the demographic makeup of each country. Arab Human Development Report 2016. Youth and the Prospects for Human Development in a Changing Reality. Published for the United Nations Development Programme Regional Bureau for Arab States. Finally, the third level relates to national youth policies, which must transcend partial and short-term approaches attempting to “find solutions to the problems of young people,” which are at time superficial and ineffective. The political change and unrest that have swept through the Middle East and North Africa since early 2011 are likely to have profound consequences for the pursuit of long-standing U.S. policy goals in the region with regard to regional security, global energy supplies, U.S. military access, bilateral trade and investment, counter-proliferation, counterterrorism, and the promotion of human rights. The profound changes in the region may alter the framework in which these goals are pursued and challenge the basic assumptions that have long guided U.S. policy. How should an understanding of the implications of Arab political change inform U.S. policy on other major policy questions? Congressional Research Service. Change in the Middle East: Implications